One object I use every day is my smartphone. It has become an essential part of my daily life because it helps me stay connected, organized and informed.

First of all, my smartphone is very convenient. I use it to communicate with friends and family through calls and messages. It is also helpful for studying, for example I can search for information, use educational apps, and check my schedule anytime. The internet access allows me to learn new things quickly and easily.

Another advantage is its multifunctionality. My smartphone works as a camera, alarm clock, music player, and even notebook. I especially like the camera because it lets me capture important moments without carrying extra devices.

My friend who was sitting in front of me turned around to face me and said, "You look beautiful". A subtle blush appeared on my face and I smiled, "Thank you". I sat down at my desk, my classmates gathered around me. They were asking me lots of questions, but I got overwhelmed by the noise and couldn't answer properly. My friend noticed that and decided to step them. "Please go to your seats!". I thanked him and sighed. Everyone got quiet, but I still heard ^{the} whispers. My new look was unusual, and someone in the school might be gossiping about me from now on. I got plenty of compliments in the hallways and even got new friends! My appearance boosted my confidence up.
